Guadalupe Prevention Partnership (GPP) was formed in May 2009 through a Substance Abuse Prevention Block Grant from SAMHSA with the primary goal of targeting underage drinking. Since its inception GPP has strived to educate the community about alcohol and substance abuse through community workshops, events, and youth groups. It also collaborates with other tribal departments and outside agencies to build its capacity to provide non-profit prevention services.

Vision: To build an effective prevention program that will be sustained through mutual efforts of community members, supporting health agencies, and Tribal departments.

Mission: The Guadalupe Prevention Partnership will provide culturally appropriate alcohol and substance abuse primary prevention services that will promote personal growth, healthy choices, and healthy living for the community members of Guadalupe.
